

ARIES CASE NOTE GUIDELINES

The ARIES case note guide is a quick reference for documenting actions and decisions relating to the household's application or recertification. The option to enter case notes will be available on the right column of each ARIES screen under CASE INFO.

Some general guidelines:

- Every case action should have a CANO, which should include at minimum dates documents were received and any collateral contacts or customer contact that was made. Below where it states to document, is another example of what you should be entering in a CANO. Another caseworker should be able to quickly understand what is happening in a case without having to do a lot of research.
- Unlike EIS, case notes in ARIES are created using the descriptions available in the table. However, similar to the process of writing a case note in EIS (CANO), staff must also always document information that is not clearly identified on the application or in ARIES. If the information reported on the application differs from what is in ARIES, we must provide further explanation or clarification in the case note. Example: Income Reported – Use the Income header in ARIES CANOs. Paystubs, DOL, and rate/unit/frequency are all entered in ARIES, so not necessary to CANO this part. The part you CANO is if you received paystubs, what date did you receive them and for who and what job. If you did a collateral contact to get the pay information, then who did you call (name, phone number, job title), for which client, and the date you made contact. This information cannot be found in ARIES.
- Document any questionable information found in interfaces using the appropriate description. For example, document alien information obtained in “Verify Lawful Presence” screen using the “Alien/Citizenship” description.
- If a change is reported, enter a case note under the “report of change” category to give a snap shot of the change. If detailed documentation is necessary enter it under the appropriate case note category. Example: if income was verified by collateral contact enter details in a case note under the “income” category.
- Case notes regarding workarounds should be documented under the applicable CANO description, example: Income workarounds should go under Income section.
