

Information About WIC Program

Would you like to see your hard-earned dollars take you further each month while improving the health of your family?

The Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Public Assistance Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program offers free, healthy food you can pick up each month at the grocery store or at select markets. The program offers nutrition information, healthy meal planning, and ideas to spice up your daily meals while helping you make the most of your Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and/or Alaska Temporary Assistance Program (ATAP) benefits. The WIC Program also provides breastfeeding support and supplies, health referrals for immunizations and other services for you family.

To qualify for WIC Program benefits, you need to be pregnant, post-partum breastfeeding or non-breastfeeding, or have a child under the age of five, as well as receive ATAP, SNAP, or Medicaid. If you would like to apply for the WIC Program, please bring proof of current ATAP, SNAP, or Medicaid eligibility to any WIC office. This will help expedite completion of your WIC Program application income verification.
